DRUGS AND THE BRAIN

- Addiction is a brain disease
- Drugs change the structure of the brain and how it works
  - These brain changes can be long-lasting and can lead to harmful behaviors
  - They can also create and spark triggers that bring on drug cravings. This makes it hard to be around your triggers even if you've been drug-free for a long time

Triggers

A Trigger is anything that makes you feel the urge to go back to using drugs because it reminds you of taking a drug and getting high. Learn your triggers and stay away from them:

Place	Person	Thing	Smell
Feeling	Picture	Memory	Something stressful

Treatment

Treatment is effective in helping people achieve recovery. It can include medication and/or counseling.

Overdose

Your risk of overdose is very high if you go back to using. Your body can't handle the same amount of drug you used before. If you overdose and don't get treatment immediately, you could die.

Resources

Find treatment in your area:
1-800-HELP (4357) or

- findtreatment.samhsa.gov

In an emergency, call 911 or get to an emergency room. Emergency opioid overdose reversal info:

HARM REDUCTION: Safer Injecting – ways to reduce risk

Am I a bad person for using drugs?

You are not a bad person for using drugs, but it is a serious problem that needs to be addressed. Addiction is not a character flaw, but a disease with both physical and mental symptoms. Abused substances cause physical changes to the brain, resulting in cravings, depression and other symptoms. Addiction is a disease that can affect anyone.

If I am not ready to stop using heroin/opioids, how can I make the process safer?

- Only smoke, snort or inject with others around who can monitor you and give the antidote Naloxone (Narcan), if needed.
- Only use distilled, sterile water to dissolve heroin. Any other water source may cause serious infection.
- After sucking the solution into the syringe through the filter, make sure no air bubbles are present in the syringe barrel before the plunger is released. Injecting air bubbles into the bloodstream can easily result in fatal injury.
- Inject into the vein in the direction of the heart. If you hit a pulse/artery blood will be bright red and you may feel pressure against the plunger. Apply pressure for 15 minutes, raise the affected limb and go to your local health center.
- AVOID High Risk Areas: neck, legs, feet and groin.

Remember before you inject

- Use only new, sterile needles and syringes. Get your own works from your local needle exchange.
- Ask your needle exchange for syringe markers/ID's.
- Never share needles or works with another drug user, not even your partner, boyfriend or girlfriend.

Remember when injecting

- Wash your hands first.
- Don't lick the needle. There are bacteria in your mouth which can get on the needle.
- Use alcohol swabs to sterilize the injection site before and after injection.
- Always inject yourself.
- Take your time. Rushing can mean you make a mistake.
- If sore take the needle out and start again, always using a clean needle.
- Do not swab the area after injecting, just apply pressure.
- Front or back loading is only ok if all equipment is known to be previously unused.
- If there is clotted blood in syringe, consider using the 'up your bum' method.
- Learn to inject with both hands.

Get regular STD, Hepatitis and HIV testing.

If your injection site becomes red or tender, get it checked immediately.

*If you are ready to quit using opioids, please ask your healthcare provider (doctor/nurse) about Tampa General Hospital's Medication Assisted Treatment Pathway.

CHALLENGING THE MYTHS ABOUT MEDICATION ASSISTED TREATMENT (MAT) FOR OPIOID USE DISORDER (OUD)

MAT JUST TRADES ONE ADDICTION FOR ANOTHER:

MAT bridges the biological and behavioral components of addiction. Research indicates that a combination of medication and behavioral therapies can successfully treat SUDs and help sustain recovery. (10)

MAT INCREASES THE RISK FOR OVERDOSE IN PATIENTS:

MAT helps to prevent overdoses from occurring. Even a single use of opioids after detoxification can result in a life-threatening or fatal overdose. Following detoxification, tolerance to the euphoria brought on by opioid use remains higher than tolerance to respiratory depression. (14)

FOR MORE INFORMATION, PLEASE CONTACT NICK SZUBIAK, DIRECTOR, CLINICAL EXCELLENCE IN ADDICTIONS, AT NICKS@THENATIONALCOUNCIL.ORG

MAT IS ONLY FOR THE SHORT TERM:

Research shows that patients on MAT for at least 1-2 years have the greatest rates of long-term success. There is currently no evidence to support benefits from stopping MAT. (11)

PROVIDING MAT WILL ONLY DISRUPT AND HINDER A PATIENT'S RECOVERY PROCESS:

MAT has been shown to assist patients in recovery by improving quality of life, level of functioning and the ability to handle stress. Above all, MAT helps reduce mortality while patients begin recovery.

MOST INSURANCE PLANS DON'T COVER MAT:

As of May 2013, 31 state Medicaid FFS programs covered methadone maintenance treatment provided in outpatient programs (4). State Medicaid agencies vary as to whether buprenorphine is listed on the Preferred Drug List (PDL), and whether prior authorization is required (a distinction often made based on the specific buprenorphine medication type). Extended-release naltrexone is listed on the Medicaid PDL in over 60 percent of states. (5)

MY PATIENT'S CONDITION IS NOT SEVERE ENOUGH TO REQUIRE MAT:

MAT utilizes a multitude of different medication options (agonists, partial agonists and antagonists) that can be tailored to fit the unique needs of the patient (2).

THERE ISN'T ANY PROOF THAT MAT IS BETTER THAN ABSTINENCE:

MAT is evidence-based and is the recommended course of treatment for opioid addiction. American Academy of Addiction Psychiatry, American Medical Association, The National Institute on Drug Abuse, Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration, National Institute on Alcohol Abuse and Alcoholism, Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, and other agencies emphasize Mat as first line treatment. # OPIATE OVERDOSE PREVENTION

NARCAN Nasal Spray Guide

What is NARCAN (also called Naloxone)?

- NARCAN is an FDA approved medication that is safe and effective for opioid/opiate overdose reversals.
- NARCAN is an opioid antagonist, which means it blocks the receptors in the brain from binding to opioid agonists found in oxycodone, hydrocodone, heroin, etc.
- NARCAN cannot be abused, does not cause overdose, and has no psychoactive properties.

Side Effects of NARCAN?

- After administering naloxone, the victim will be in a state of withdrawal.

Symptoms include:

- Fatigue
- Fever, sweating
- Pain/aches
- Upset stomach, vomiting
- Confusion, disorientation, loss of bowel/bladder function
- Increased heart rate/breathing

Facts: Overdose and NARCAN

- The only viable option when someone is experiencing an opiate overdose is to initiate rescue breathing, administer NARCAN, and seek medical assistance.
- Attempts to revive something experiencing an overdose by other means may be unsuccessful.
- NARCAN is available without a doctor's prescription at some pharmacies around the state.
- A person revived by NARCAN can slip back into an overdose once the naloxone wears off after 30-90 minutes. Additional doses may be needed, seek medical attention immediately.

If you suspect or witness an overdose, CALL 911.

MATERNAL CARE RESOURCES

Perinatal Depression

A mood disorder that affects women during pregnancy and after childbirth. Mothers with perinatal depression experience feelings of extreme sadness, anxiety, and fatigue that may make it difficult for them to carry out daily tasks, including caring for themselves or others.

What is the difference between “baby blues” and postpartum depression?

Many women have the baby blues in the days after childbirth. If you have the baby blues, you may:

Have mood swings • Feel sad, anxious, or overwhelmed • Have crying spells
Lose your appetite • Have trouble sleeping

The baby blues usually go away in 3 to 5 days after they start. The symptoms of postpartum depression last longer and are more severe.
